How do you personally determine what a successful life is?

What presently is the highest priority of your life?

At the end of your life what three things would you like to say you have accomplished?

If someone asked you to explain your philosophy of life (what you live by), what would you say?

What questions trouble you most about life?

Does belief in God help you answer those questions? Why? Why not?

How would someone decide whether or not God exists?

What do you personally believe about God? How do you know?

If your child asked you the following questions, how would you respond....

“Why do people die and what happens to them when they die?”

“What makes something right and what makes something wrong?”

If you could change one problem of our world, what would it be?

In your understanding, what are some essential beliefs of Christianity? In your view, does it hold any solutions to the problems of the world?
